What are Flash Cards?

They are a great way to test yourself and find gaps in your knowledge.

They are good for:

Learning dates in history

Language vocabulary

Keywords and definitions

Formulas

Labelled diagrams

They are not good at learning complex information that cannot be split up.

How do you use them?

Say your answers out loud- this forces you to answer the question properly- using academic language.

Make a pile of any you get wrong to retest yourself

Test yourself until you get them all correct.

Make sure you test yourself both ways- for example- you need to know vocab translations from English to Spanish and back again!

Get someone else to check you- it removes the temptation to check the other side before answering.
